BIOGRAPHY

Gulnara was always good and mindful student. She finished her studies at UCL last year. She feels very proud, because she is the only one in her family with college degree. Since before her graduation, she started tutoring as a way to make some extra money, but she discovered that she actually learns much more by teaching others. This fact inspired her to start her own tutoring program for students from her Alma Mater. She hopes, that her efforts will help the next generation of students.
